"The Order of the Greek Horsemen was founded in 1955 by students Frank "Sonny" Seiler, John Wilkins and Donald Joel with John Cox, Director of Student Activities, serving as the first advisor. The organization honors outstanding greek men for their contributions to the fraternity system. This involvement may be through IFC, their own fraternity or being active in other forms of campus life."
Dear student:

Welcome to the University of Georgia, the nation’s first state-chartered university and one with a rich history of educating leaders for the state of Georgia and beyond. The first fraternity at the University was founded in 1865, and today a quarter of our students are active in Greek Life.

Fraternities provide our students with opportunities for leadership and character development through charitable and community service while helping members build connections and friendships that can last a lifetime. Fraternity members are among the most engaged students on campus, with grade point averages that commonly exceed those of other students and high levels of participation in extra-curricular activities that complement their classroom experiences. After graduation, fraternity members often become some of our most committed alumni and most generous donors. Notable University alumni that were fraternity members have included U.S. senators, governors, corporate CEOs, scientists and musicians, among others. By taking full advantage of the intellectual, social and cultural opportunities available at the University of Georgia, you enrich your college experience and lay the foundation for a successful future.

Fraternity membership provides numerous opportunities for personal growth and development, but it also brings great responsibilities. Fraternity members should strive to be positive role models in their organization and for the greater campus community. You will be counted on to help shape a culture that fosters ownership and accountability for your actions and holds peers accountable for their behavior, as well.

I appreciate your interest in Greek Life and invite you to learn more about the opportunities it provides. I wish you success in your endeavors here at the University and in all that you do.

Sincerely,
Jere Morehead
President

The Interfraternity Council is a self-governing body representing the twenty-six member fraternities at the University of Georgia. Consisting of two members and the president of each fraternity, the IFC strives to promote excellence in all aspects of fraternity life and academic pursuits.

The internal committees of the IFC are responsible for community service, public relations, recruitment, scholarship, judicial and chapter program development. The IFC requires all new members to attend educational seminars covering topics such as hazing, drugs and alcohol, sexual assault prevention, diversity, and character development. The IFC awarded $11,000 in scholarships to outstanding Greek men for the 2015-2016 academic year. In addition, the IFC requires its fraternities to achieve a 3.0 chapter grade point average in order to have social privileges.

Each fraternity has one vote on issues and proposals brought before the Council. Each member of the IFC is offered the opportunity to serve on a committee, and he assumes the responsibility of being the primary communication link between the Council and his chapter. The IFC is guided by the Advisor to the Interfraternity Council, who is an experienced full-time administrator in the Greek Life Office.

Dear newly accepted University of Georgia student,

On behalf of the Interfraternity Council, it’s my pleasure to welcome you to one of the South’s finest institutions of higher learning. Founded in 1785, The University of Georgia holds the title of being the oldest public university in the United States. One could say this was the first of many proud distinctions held here at UGA. Another, as you will come to realize, is the excellence found within our Greek Community. Those students who have participated in Greek Life have traditionally been some of the most active and successful on campus.

With that being said, welcome to the process of fraternity recruitment! During this process you will have the opportunity to participate in many events with numerous fraternities and many different people. With 26 chapters, we know that there is a fraternity for you! This recruitment process is designed as a vehicle for you to meet new people, explore the Greek System, and, ultimately, find the fraternity that is the best fit for you.

This is an exciting time for you, and there are thousands of active brothers and alumni that will attest to the fact that you are in an outstanding position. These fraternity men will tell you that deciding to take part in fraternity recruitment was one of the greatest decisions that they have ever made. The Greek System at The University of Georgia has consistently developed men of character and men who have gone on to lead our school, state, and country. So, thank you for your interest in our Greek System, and taking the initial step in the process of joining a fraternity.

Once again, congratulations on your acceptance to the state’s most storied university. I hope that you take full advantage of this amazing opportunity called fraternity recruitment, and I assure you that Greek Life will enrich your experience as a University of Georgia student. Good luck in your collegiate endeavors, and I look forward to seeing you join the ranks of the prestigious fraternity men who have come before you.

Sincerely,
Alex Bosse
IFC President

Nationally, Greek men make up 70% of the people listed in Who’s Who, 86% of the CEO’s in the country’s top fifty corporations, 75% of the United States Congressmen, and 85% of Supreme Court Justices since 1910.
The Interfraternity Council constitutes only a fourth of the Greek community at UGA. Included in the community are the Panhellenic, National Pan-Hellenic, and Multicultural Greek Councils and their member organizations.

The Panhellenic Council, made up of 17 sororities, is responsible for making policies, planning recruitment, promoting academic excellence, and planning other activities involving sororities. Panhellenic has its own executive board comprised of members from various organizations.

The National Pan-Hellenic Council (NPHC) is made up of four sororities and three fraternities. The NPHC provides unity among the traditionally African-American sororities and fraternities on the UGA campus. Like Panhellenic and IFC, the NPHC has its own executive board and is responsible for implementing policies, procedures, and events involving its member groups.

The Multicultural Greek Council (MGC) is made up of six sororities and six fraternities. MGC works to increase awareness of each chapter’s respective cultures, serves the Athens community, and maintains high academic standards. MGC represents a proud and dynamic minority.

If you would like additional information about these councils, please contact the Greek Life Office at 706-542-4612 or visit www.uga.edu/greeklife.

What is a fraternity?

A fraternity is a group of men working together toward common goals and issues. Fraternities strive to develop their members’ individual talents and skills to better prepare them for life after graduation.

What is Fraternity Recruitment?

Recruitment, also known as “Rush,” is the activity by which fraternities seek new members. Fall recruitment consists of three structured days that include an orientation meeting and visitation to each chapter house to meet members and learn more about fraternity life.

After visiting each chapter, potential new members are free to visit any of the chapters for the next two days. Invitations (bids) to join a fraternity can be given out any time during the recruitment period.

What is a bid?

A bid is an invitation to join a fraternity. Bids may be extended to a potential new member after the fraternity has gotten to know him. Potential new members should not feel pressured or obligated to accept a bid. Potential new members may receive numerous bids from different fraternities but can only accept one. Potential new members are encouraged to meet as many fraternity men as possible and should not concentrate on obtaining a bid from a single fraternity. Rushing more than one fraternity allows a potential new member to meet many new people during the recruitment process, even if he does not receive or accept a bid from a group.
If I go through recruitment, do I have to join a fraternity?

Although approximately 86% of potential new members will join a fraternity during the fall semester, it is not required. Many fraternities will be a part of another round of recruitment in January, and you may have the opportunity to join then as well.

What type of clothing should I wear during recruitment?

Individuals going through recruitment generally wear casual, khaki-type pants or shorts and a polo-type shirt. No suits or ties are required during recruitment.

Should I attend a summer recruitment event?

Individuals going through recruitment are not required to attend any events prior to Tuesday, August 11, 2015. All summer recruitment events must be registered with the Greek Life Office and follow social event policies and recruitment rules. Overnight summer recruitment events (ex: beach weekends, lake weekends, etc) are not permitted by the Interfraternity Council or the Greek Life Office.

What if you are participating in the Freshman College Summer Experience or have other academic commitments?

Academic commitments and the Freshman College’s Summer Experience requirements may conflict with some summer recruitment events. Fraternities stress academic achievement, and therefore, it is very important that potential new members honor all academic commitments. It is imperative that potential new members not miss any academic requirement or Freshman College Summer Experience commitment in order to attend a recruitment event. Please contact Greek Life (706-542-4612) with any questions related to academic conflicts associated with recruitment.

Do I need a recommendation to join a fraternity?

Fraternities generally do not require any recommendations. However, if recommendations are solicited, they should be sent to the chapter house or the Greek Life Office.

How much does a fraternity cost?

The cost of fraternity dues and fees vary from chapter to chapter. Chapter dues are used to help maintain the chapter house, pay yearly insurance, for national fees and services, assist with philanthropy/community service projects, fraternity leadership schools, go toward academic scholarships, and help in defraying the costs of alumni, parent, and social events. For Fall 2016, average costs are as follows:

- $1466 for first semester
- $1357 per semester not living in the house, no meal plan included
- $2291 per semester not living in the house, but with a meal plan included
- $3280 per semester living in the house, no meal plan included
- $4594 per semester living in the house, and with a meal plan included

Intramurals

Intramurals are a very exciting aspect of fraternity life. Although open to all students, the strongest competition is among Greek organizations. Apart from UGA intramurals, fraternity men also participate in philanthropic and interfraternity sporting events. Athletics prove to be important physical and mental outlets for students and help improve self-confidence and develop teamwork. Through competition, intramurals continue to help build brotherhood and school spirit at UGA.

Why a fraternity?

Alumni

Brotherhood continues throughout life as one enters into alumni status. Fraternity alumni are considerably the most loyal of all Bulldogs, both to the University and to their Greek peers. Alumni enjoy returning to Athens and visiting the University and their chapter house. Through alumni, the fraternity network extends across the world and is helpful in gaining employment or when relocating to a new area.

25 consecutive number of years fraternities finished with an over-all higher GPA than the University male average

Leadership

The University of Georgia fraternity system is dedicated to building future leaders by providing numerous leadership opportunities. Campus leaders include men involved in Tate Society, Arch Society, Student Government, Varsity Athletics, and Student Judiciary. Greek men are also recognized in honor societies such as Order of Omega, Gridiron, Omicron Delta Kappa, Order of the Greek Horsemen, and Sphinx.

Brotherhood

Greek fraternities were founded as a network of support for men who were going through similar experiences. The fraternity is a great way to enhance the general college experience through brotherhood and friendship. Brotherhood means building bonds between members of the Greek community and working towards the shared goal of a better campus for all. Some of the best friends one will ever make are fellow fraternity brothers and other members of the Greek community.

Community Service

One of the founding principles of every fraternity is giving of yourself in service to the community. Thousands of dollars are raised and over 25,000 hours of service are performed by fraternity men each year in such activities as ugaMiracle, UGA HERO, Relay for Life, Adopt-a-Highway, tutoring Athens area students, and volunteering at the homeless shelter, local Boy’s and Girl’s Club, and two local hospitals. IFC specifically supports the local Athens Whatever It Takes program as well.

Social Life

Social life is a visible portion of Greek life that is excellent for acclimating students to the University. Fraternities are very busy with homecoming, alumni weekends, parents weekends, formals, and date nights. Fraternities also host band parties, thematic weekends, socials and dinners. Social events give the fraternity man an opportunity to meet new and exciting people while building life-long friendships.

Leadership

Academics

Fraternities at the University of Georgia realize that excelling in academics is the top priority for all students. The grade point average of each fraternity is ranked, published, and available to anyone who seeks it. Fraternity life offers a wide variety of academic advantages including tutoring programs, peer advisement, and in-house study hours. Fraternity members also have the opportunity to receive $11,000 in IFC scholarships, a multitude of chapter scholarships, individual and chapter academic awards, and numerous scholarships and awards from their international organizations.

Social Responsibility

Fraternities offer a wide range of social activities and programs for their members. Fraternities have also taken responsibility by utilizing risk management procedures to decrease the possibility of accidents at their events. Each chapter follows a social policy developed by its national organization in addition to the policies of the Interfraternity Council and the University. The IFC is committed to helping the fraternities maintain a safe and responsible environment that contributes to the life-long friendships unique to the Greek community.

Dry Recruitment
No one in any way connected to the fraternity may serve or partake of alcohol or other illegal substances in the presence of a potential new member. No potential new member may be in possession of alcohol at any time during the recruitment period. Any potential new member violating the recruitment rules is subject to suspension from recruitment and will not be allowed to join a fraternity.

Alcohol
Each chapter maintains a responsible social policy that promotes enjoyable social activities in a safe environment. The University also has a closed party policy that opposes the misuse of alcohol and maintains that all chapters, individual members, and guests must abide by state and local laws and University regulations. All chapters work to educate and foster a better understanding of social responsibility and alcohol education for their members. The IFC is committed to helping organizations maintain balanced social programs that contribute to personal development and do not detract from the University's educational mission.

Diversity
The Greek Community at the University of Georgia is comprised of a diverse group of individuals coming together to work for a common goal. The IFC is committed to educating its members about the value of living in a multicultural society. The Greek community sponsors a variety of programs to educate their members on diversity issues.

Behavioral Expectations
All chapters work to educate and foster a strong commitment to a fair and respectful environment for living, work, and study. The University’s Non-Discrimination and Anti-Harassment (“NDAH”) Policy prohibits any member of the UGA community from engaging in harassment, including sexual misconduct, and discrimination against others within the University community, and includes instructions for making a complaint.

The full NDAH Policy is available at: http://eoo.uga.edu/policies/non-discrimination-anti-harassment-policy
Hazing is defined as any intentional, negligent or reckless action, or situation which causes another pain, embarrassment, ridicule or harassment, regardless of the willingness of the participant.

Such actions and situations include, but are not limited to the following:

1. forcing or requiring the drinking of alcohol or any other substance;
2. forcing or requiring the eating of food or anything an individual refuses to eat;
3. calisthenics (push-ups, sit-ups, jogging, runs, etc.);
4. “treeings” (tying someone up and throwing food or other substances on or at him/her);
5. paddle swats;
6. line-ups (yelling at people in any formation or harassing them);
7. forcing or requiring the theft of any property;
8. road trips (dropping someone off to find his/her own way back);
9. scavenger hunts;
10. permitting less then six (6) continuous, uninterrupted hours of sleep per night;
11. conducting activities, which do not allow adequate time for study (not allowing to go to class, missing group projects, etc.);
12. nudity at any time;
13. running personal errands of the members (driving to class, cleaning their individual rooms, serving meals, picking up laundry, washing cars, etc.);
14. physical abuse or injury;
15. requiring the violation of University, Federal, State or local law.

Hazing in any manner is prohibited. Fraternities at UGA expect their members to strive for academic achievement, demonstrate responsible citizenship, show concern for the rights and needs of others, and provide leadership. Hazing has no place in fraternity life and is completely contrary to the ideals on which fraternities were founded.

All members of the University community share the responsibility to challenge and make known to the University or the Interfraternity Council any acts that appear to be hazing. There are a number of ways to report incidents of possible hazing. You may report such activity to the IFC, the Greek Life Office at (706) 542-4612, or the Hazing Hotline at (706) 207-0779. You do not have to identify yourself at any time.
